WE'RE LISTENING.

Hanson is a company that values client relationships, so we listen to your needs and engineer solutions to meet them. While some companies tell you what they think you want to hear, Hanson is interested in the solutions that make you successful.

Hanson will keep your project moving.

Our firm's first project in 1954 was the design of the Kansas Turnpike structures, and we've been working on complex highway projects ever since. This experience has taught us many things, but nothing more important than our firm belief in the work that you do.

The success of your project is important to us because it's important to you. When you succeed, we succeed. We can work together to develop innovative and cost-effective solutions that will keep everyone moving forward.

We put ourselves in your shoes.

The saying goes, if you really want to know someone, walk a mile in his or her shoes. And Hanson has. Our staff includes people who have been there, so they know how to get you through planning, design, funding, public outreach and permitting issues. We ask the right questions when facing these challenges, resulting in an efficient use of your time and budget. You need a consultant who will put you and your needs first.
